Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

4. Claim 14 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Kong et al (US 2002/0067761).

shown in figure 2(a). Each of the antennas receive composite signals and each of the composite signals comprise a plurality of user signals (paragraph 0024). The received signals are despread to obtain the separate user signals as shown in figure 2(a). The separate user signals are input to a MAI channel 28 and MRC using channel gain estimate 30. These elements comprise a central processor. The separate user signals are combined so as to remove the interference due to symbols transmitted from other terminals as well as any other noise present (paragraph 0027).

Allowable Subject Matter

Claims 1-13 and 31-41 are allowed.

Claims 15-30 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.
